

THINKING ABOUT HAVING A TUMMY TUCK?

Join a research study and earn up to $7,000 in compensation

For a limited time, our research department at Skincare Physicians is working with area plastic surgeons to recruit subjects to participate in a study of an investigational device for cosmetic fat reduction. This minimally invasive procedure will occur in the area of fat tissue that will be removed during your scheduled tummy tuck.

Skincare Physicians' network includes some of the top plastic surgeons in the Boston area, who can assess if you would be a good candidate for a tummy tuck procedure.

If you are interested in enrolling, contact Kathleen Petrell in our Research Department at 617-848-1638, or email study@skincarephysicians.net

Your participation in this research is entirely voluntary. If you decide to participate in this study, we will invite you to our research department to enroll in the study. Taking part in this research will consist of one treatment and follow up will last for 12 weeks. Subjects who participate in the study will receive up to $7,000 in compensation by the end of the study. Payments will be disbursed during the course of the study.